Our Financial Planning Process

Providing advice is something that we do not take lightly here at Hudson. Over the years, we have developed a well-defined financial planning process ensures that you and we achieve the best financial planning outcomes for you. At the same time, we understand that we are all different, and we all have different needs and circumstances. Though our experience tells us, that by applying a defined process sets expectations. The journey will take you through an initial meeting through to the implementation and review of your financial plan. This is achieved through the following key steps:

Understanding you (Discovery)

This involves us having an initial chat with you at no obligation to help you and us understand your advice needs, including what you are wishing to achieve.

Investigating opportunities (Analysis and research)

Next step is assessing your overall financial situation against what you are looking to achieve and identifying potential opportunities that are available to you.

Bridging the Gap (Strategy development)

Utilising what we know and understand about you and opportunities that we have uncovered; we then build your strategy to help bridge the gap where you are right now and where you want to be.

Giving life to your plan (Implementation)

We work together to help you put the necessary steps in place including all paperwork and meetings that are required to give life to your financial plan.

As with all facets of life, it is important that your plan adjusts as circumstances change, market changes, regulation, and legislation changes. Keeping tabs on your plan becomes important which is the final and ongoing step in the financial journey with us.

Staying on track (regular ongoing advice)

We can provide an ongoing advice service programme that suits you, to ensure that you remain on track to bridge the gap that is so important to you. This involves ongoing reliable and trusted ongoing advice.

Any additional services we offer, such as accounting or legal advice, real estate investments, or estate planning advice are offered through a separate business arrangement. These other services are not provided under our AFSL and we do not support, or supervise the provision of these services and have no responsibility in relation to those services.

Hudson Financial Planning maintains an approved products and services list from a diversified selection of approved providers. These have been researched by external houses such as Lonsec, as well as our in-house investment committee. Our internal investment team, supplemented by external experts, provides financial product research which is used to carefully select and maintain an extensive list of approved products ('APL') for our Advisers to use when providing personal advice.

Transaction services

If you would like us to help you complete a specific transaction, but you do not require advice from us, we may also arrange to execute your instructions without providing you with personal advice. You can contact us directly with any instructions relating your existing financial products. We will require your final instructions in writing, and we will provide you with a letter to sign to acknowledge that you have declined our offer of advice as well as understand the risks of a transaction service. If you do not obtain advice, you face the risk that the Financial Products you select will not fully consider your objectives, financial situation or needs and therefore not be appropriate for you.

Documents you may receive

We will provide you with a number of documents as you progress through our financial planning process to capture each stage of your advice journey. We may provide these documents to you electronically to your nominated email address, unless otherwise agreed.

Some of these documents that you may receive from your adviser as part of your advice journey with us include but not exhaustive:

Letter of Engagement (LOE)

Is an agreement outlining agreed scope of advice and sets out the initial advice fee before you make a commitment to engage our services.

Personal Financial Profile (PFP) and Risk Profile (RP)

The Personal Financial Profile is a document that we will use to collect your personal and financial details which forms the basis of our advice. It is generally the first document we will provide you as part of your financial advice journey with us and is therefore important that you complete this document as accurately as possible. The Risk Profile gives us an indication of your overall risk appetite in terms of investing. Please refer to the section, 'Your Privacy' to see how we collect, store and use your data.

Statement of Advice (SoA) and Record of Advice (RoA)

The SOA is our written advice that documents our personal advice to you, which contains a summary of your goals, strategies, and financial products we may recommend achieving your goals. It also provides you with detailed information about product costs, and the fees and other benefits we and others will receive, as a result of the advice we provide. If we provide further personal advice, an SOA may not be required. However, we can document this further advice through a Record of Advice (RoA). We keep a record of any further personal advice we provide you for seven years. You may request a copy of such records by contacting our office during that period.

Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) or Investor Directed Portfolio Service (IDPS) guide

If we recommend or arrange a financial product for you, we will provide a Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) or investor directed portfolio service (IDPS) guide where relevant. These documents contain the key features of the recommended product, such as its benefits and risks as well as the costs you will pay the product provider to professionally manage that product. You should read any warnings contained in your advice document, the PDS or IDPS guide carefully before making any decision relating to a financial strategy or product.

Ongoing Service Agreement (OSA)

This agreement outlines our ongoing services offering and the costs to engage in our services. It includes the review services we will provide to you, the frequency these services will be delivered, how much it will cost, your payment method and how the service can be terminated.

Fee Disclosure Statement (FDS) and Ongoing Services Renewal Notice

A FDS will be issued to you where you have engaged in our ongoing service arrangement with your adviser for a period of 12 months. The FDS will contain information about the services you were entitled to receive, the services you received and fees you have paid. Our renewal agreement will outline to you what the services will be for the next 12 months, and the fees associated with this.

Your relationship with us and using our services

You must complete a Personal Financial Profile (PFP) to provide us with a list of your personal objectives, details of your current financial situation and any relevant information, so that we can offer you the most appropriate advice possible. You may also be required to complete a Risk Profile which provides us with a guide to your appetite for investment risk.

You have the right to tell us if you do not wish to provide this information. However, if you do not, the advice you receive will be only general advice and may not be appropriate to your needs, objectives and financial situation.

There are two types of advice that can be provided by our Advisers.

- Personal Financial Advice – will be provided after a personal financial profile is provided. This advice will take into account your personal objectives, goals, financial situation and needs.
- General Financial Advice – we are able to offer general advice if no profile is provided. This advice will not consider personal goals, financial situation or needs.

If personal advice is provided, you will receive an advice document.

You should read the warnings contained in the Statement of Advice (SoA) carefully before making any decisions relating to the Financial Product.

It is also important that you keep us up to date by informing us of any changes to your circumstances, so we are able to determine if our advice continues to be appropriate

Hudson Financial Planning remuneration arrangements

Under section 923A of the Corporations act, Hudson Financial Planning is not independent as we are entitled to receive remuneration including insurance product commissions in respect of the provision of financial services to our clients.

We will discuss and agree our fee structure with you before we provide you with any services.

We also provide ongoing services in relation to our advice. Details of advice fees, risk commissions, or other benefits that we may receive will be disclosed to you in dollar and/or percentage terms in an advice document.

The fee charged varies depending on the complexity and nature of the work undertaken and type of advice provided and the degree of ongoing service that is required. Our agreed advice and service fees may include charges for initial advice and ongoing advice which can be an amount based upon:

- A flat dollar fee (fixed fee)
- An amount you invest (asset-based fee)
- A combination of the above.

Initial Consultation

We do not charge for your very first consultation with you (discovery) stage of our advice process.

Advice Fees

We do charge for the research, development, preparation, presentation and implementation of our advice-Statement of Advice (SoA). These fees will be based on your individual circumstances, the complexity of your situation and time it takes us to prepare your personal financial plan and are one off. Fees will be quoted and discussed with you and agreed before work proceeds.

Our advice fees are typically for:

- Life Plans– which focuses on building a holistic plan which may include forecasting wealth and retirement, timing of selling assets and cashflow etc to set you on your financial path. Fees start from $2,500 inclusive of GST and are invoiced.
- Investment Advice – Fees are typically deducted from investments as one-off fee for the preparation and implementation of our advice and are based up to 1% of your balance and capped at $12,500. Therefore, based on an investment of $500,000, a typical fee would be $5,000 inclusive of GST.

Ongoing advice service fees

The ongoing advice service fees covers the cost to review your strategies and investments managed on your behalf as documented in our Statement of Advice (SoA). Ongoing services helps you to take advantage of opportunities as they become available, adjust your plan to meet changes in goals, or legislation and to help you stay on the right path in meeting your identified financial objectives.

The fee structure will be discussed as part of your initial discussions with us and confirmed in our Statement of Advice (SoA) and ongoing service agreements with you.

Ongoing fees are usually an asset-based fees and will not exceed 0.8% per annum (inclusive of GST) of the total value of your portfolio.

For example, if you invested $500,000 with your Hudson adviser, and we agreed to charge you 0.8 % per annum of funds under management. This would equate to $4,000 in the first year. This fee allows ongoing access to your adviser and the Hudson support team, and the services outlined within your Ongoing Service Agreement (OSA) and/or Statement of Advice (SOA).

All fees above can be elected by you to be collected through your platform and therefore paid directly to the licensee, after we have provided our advice and service to you. You can also elect to be invoiced for upfront advice fees.

We will discuss with you any upfront and ongoing fees with you before we commence any work on your behalf.

Other fees and charges payable by you to the product provider will be disclosed to you in their Product Disclosure Statement (PDS). These fees might include administration fees, investment fees, establishment fees, and other charges levied by the product provider. Your Statement of Advice will contain details of our fees and any payments made to us by a Financial Product issuer.

Existing Hudson Members via membership services - With the economic events over the last 5 years and with the legislation passed based on the Royal Commission recommendations, Hudson Advisers are now required to focus their energies on clients subscribing and paying a fee for ongoing services as outlined previously.

Clients who have been with Hudson Financial Planning back in our membership days, will remain legacy clients and will be offered access to our newsletter, and access to all of the services that Hudson offers. We no longer provide personal advice via our legacy memberships without charging a fee. General advice continues to be provided in the form of our newsletters which are written each month by our Senior Advisers as well as referrals to our insurance, finance and property, accounting and estate planning specialists.

If at any stage our existing membership clients would like a consult with our Senior advisers to ascertain if our services are required, this will also be offered, though a fee may be payable which is agreed beforehand. This fee may be discounted in honour of past membership.

Personal Insurance remuneration

In relation to Personal Insurance policies, unless we advise you otherwise, we are remunerated by commission from the relevant insurer whenever you enter into an insurance contract arranged by us (including renewal and some variations).

Product Type	Initial Commission	Ongoing Commission	Example
Insurance (including those held within superannuation)	Up to 66% of the first year premium for new policies implemented from 1 January 2020.	Up to 22% of the insurance premium each following year on new policies from 1 January 2018. Existing policies before 1 January 2018, we may receive ongoing commissions up to 11%.	On insurance policies implemented from 1 January 2020, if your insurance premium was $1,000, we would receive an initial commission of up to $660. We would receive an ongoing commission of up to $220 pa.

The commission paid to us is utilised to cover our ongoing administration costs in relation to the insurances we recommend. The commission is paid by the product provider and is not an additional charge to you. All of the above fees and commissions are inclusive of GST.

If an agreed advice fee is charged to undertake research or comparisons, we may rebate some or all of the commissions, provided that a policy is implemented and an upfront commission is received. E.g. A client wants to know if we can offer a better solution to their current income protection policy. It is quite a complex case, with medical history and employment history, and will potentially take many hours to research a comprehensive alternative. Before we spend the time on this research we may quote a fee for the research alone. If, however, a new policy is appropriate and is established using our services, we will rebate all or part of the commissions received against the fee charged.

Other benefits we may receive

Hudson Financial Planning may be offered or receive noncommission benefits such as attending training events, entertainment or sponsorship, benefits that may relate to information technology, software or support provided from some product providers at no extra cost to you. We maintain a register detailing any benefit we receive valued at between $100 and $300 per annum and can be made available within 30 days of your request.

Payment methods

We offer you the following payment options for payment of our advice and service fees:

- Direct Invoice payable by direct transfer or
- Fees are deducted from your investment (subject to the advice and service provided).

All permissible fees and commissions will be paid directly to Mainview Securities Pty Ltd TA Hudson Financial Planning as the licensee.

Other Costs in relation to providing advice to you

Where other costs are incurred in the process of providing our advice and services to you, you will be liable for these costs. However, we will agree all additional costs with you prior to you incurring them. One example could be for the costs of obtaining a trust deed through a third party to establish a Self Managed Super Fund. The fee charged by the third party is payable by you.
